The image was by Felix Nadar, renowned 19th century French photographer of celebrated people (authors, scientists, painters . . .). I wish to recreate for others, as nearly as possible, my extraordinary experience—what it was like for me to step onto their untouched land, what it was like for them to see me, and what they would remember from the encounter long afterward." —Roberto Dutesco, Photographer A story worth telling – over and over again.

ABOUT THE Marley Project – Bruce Anderson and Julianne Neal
"Bruce Anderson and I started The Marley Project non-profit to focus on equine awareness and education and this festival has provided that opportunity and so much more. Not only have we been able to share our programs through our own documentary "The Edge: Bruce Anderson - Natural Humanship," we have also had the chance to feature a number of other Camden-based groups and produce new projects on local stories. Through our new Spotlight Rescue Series, we are featuring two shorts on local stories, Bruce's work with rescue through Nature's View and Heaven's Gait, a local equine rescue sanctuary. It has been so rewarding to share these stories, and coming away from New York with the Horse Hero Award and Best Documentary Series was just the icing on the cake. I am looking forward to our local audience having the opportunity to see more of the series and the amazing work going on right here in Camden."
The Marley Project, Inc. is a registered non-profit 501 (c)(3) dedicated to equine education, advocacy and awareness.
